| Subject:          | Allow on-connect commands to refer to variables, such as password   |              |        |
| Description:      | Networks that only use NickServ, I have to authenticate using on-connect commands. However, to make this work well with #899, you could replace all instances of e.g. '$PASSWORD' with the actual password read from the user's settings or keyring. |              |        |
