Subject:	Messages appear in log, but not in smuxi window
Description:	Smuxi

Vendor: Debian 0.11~rc5-1

Frontend: GNOME 0.11.0.0

Engine: 0.11.0.0

For some reason, today smuxi didn't show some messages that were said on a channel. I only noticed this because someone highlighted me, but the smuxi window didn't show the message.

In the log, the messages appear:

I do not use any Filters.

I should note that during this time, my computer ran very slowly due to almost running out of memory (had some other applications in background). So maybe having a long delay is what is causing the bug.

I set the priority to high because this bug can cause you to not see the messages at all.

Pretty sure this is a filter or hook preventing the message from showing up. Could it be that you changed filters, say removed but didn't restart? Because events are still shown. I would need a log to tell what is going wrong...

Not that I remember, but it's possible. Do filters need a restart to apply?
